“ I just had a notion today to try to google John, and I've found his obituary.

John Nelson was a co worker of mine around 1977, when I 18. I worked with him for three years. He shared his faith often. He helped me keep a good focus on life and appreciate the the good family I had. We worked at English sheet metal, he was very good at his craft and passed that on to me. I bought my first car from him, a 1968 Malibu, which I still have. I'm sorry I lost track of him, loosing his phone number somehow. He spoke well of El Campo so often. I was so happy for him knowing he got married.

If possible, I'd love to speak with his wife to share a few words.

“ There will never be a kinder sweeter man than John. As a neighbor he was always so willing to help as limited physically as he was. No one was a better client in the salon than when I had the pleasure of being his barber. So many will miss John because he was a friend to so many. He was much loved and lived a good life. The angels are singing as he was welcomed into Heaven. We will be together again soon.
