“Ms. Spacke was my third grade teacher and I was in her class the last year that she taught. After that year, she would still invite us to her house for milkshakes and tea sandwiches. It was always such a treat to walk across the park to her house and hear about her adventures. My friends and I would visit her off and on until we left for college. I have been a teacher for eighteen years and often think about how Ms. Spacke connected with me and the other students. As I am returning to school this year, we have been challenged to bring a picture of someone who inspired us to our first staff meeting. My parents let me know a few years ago that Ms. Spacke had passed, but I was excited to find her obituary and a picture to share with my staff. She was an inspiration to many and a wonderful teacher!”
