“ I always greatly enjoyed my visits with Mrs. Rod whenever I was there with Reene. Mrs. Rod shared a love of the mystics and other saints, and we got to talk about devotions such as Divine Mercy, which she prayed along with the rosary. She was a true daughter of the Church, a very prayerful woman who impressed me immensely. I believe she was part of a prayer group at her church, St. Philip the Apostle, and prayed for everyone--as I know I will now for her. As a city slicker, I don't know much about farming, but I admired Mary Jane's love of gardening, and didn't mind taking home some of the home-grown veggies, as well as eating them in the dinners she served. God is merciful, and I believe He has taken his beloved daughter into His warm embrace. Mary Jane fought the good fight, and her journey is over. May Mrs. Rod's family take great comfort in her faithfulness to the end, where there is now no more tears or pain. Rest in peace, Mary Jane, and please don't forget to intercede for us as well.
