“ Since nobody took the time to explain who you were Dad or listened to what you wanted, here is what I think of when I think of you.

When I think of you, I try to remember the good.

There was so much good.

You were a great dad, one many people wish they had.

I will always remember, not a day will pass that I don't think of all the laughs.

You were stubborn and persistent but had been humbled by life.

I wish I could have done more to alleviate some of the stress and worries that weighed heavy on your heart and caused you so much strife.

2017 wasn't your year.

I hope you went out with no pain, tears or fear.

I hope you know how loved you were.

I will miss the fishing trips done on the spur.

The water was the only place that brought you peace. You told us that often.

As I reminisce, I am filled with so many emotions. I remember your face as we sat upon the waves of the oceans.

“Ain't it beautiful out here? It's fucking beautiful. Nothing else like being out here.”

Burning up motors, busting up my eye, being rescued by the coast guard, being towed in. It was always an event and I know you cherished every moment with us.

You told me “never forget this day, ashley, promise me.”

“If you ain't fucking shit up, you ain't doing nothing.”

We all lived by your mottos.

“Don't go down like no bitch! “

You didn't. You went out doing what you had to do. Like you always did.

You were one of the hardest working men I knew.

You loved music. You would send me clips of songs pretty regularly.

Music helped you get through things. Listen to the words, you would say. I feel the same way about music and my boys do too.

There are so many things that remind me of you.

If it's cold outside, I can hear you saying it's colder than a mother in laws kiss.

If it's hot outside, I can vision the sweat rolling off your big, bald ass head. Stayed with a towel. You couldn't even walk outside without breaking a sweat.

You always were the first one to text me every holiday, birthday or anytime. Early or late, when you thought of us you called or texted. God damn you loved the phone. I hated it, I still hate it. But I do have to admit I will miss the morning texts you would send us telling us to have a good day and that you loved us. "Am proud of you, I love you. You are smart am so proud to be your father, you've come a long way, I miss y'all, got the boat fueled up, you ret? And I will miss all the drunk ass phone calls, good or bad, I loved to hear from you and I know you felt the same.

I still can't believe your gone. I hope with time, the hurt is less. I hope I can pull myself out of this mess. I'm trying hard to find the strength you told me I had.

It's so hard because I love you dad.
